Crypto Academy Sessions, Ep. 5 — How to Trade NFTs

If you enjoyed this episode on how to better understand (and trade) the wild world of altcoins and memecoins, the final installment of our 5-part series with Mando and OSF is not to be missed.

In Episode 5, professional crypto trader and NFT entrepreneur OSF takes us on a journey into the NFT ecosystem, explaining how beginners can get started in the space, how traders can navigate the constant stream of news and narratives, which Web3 metrics we should be watching, and a whole lot more.

Never shy of oversharing, OSF even explains his best and worst NFT trades, how he learned from the failures, and what signals to look for in this volatile and evolving space. As ever, risk management and portfolio construction is a key to successfully trading — and OSF walks us through his best practices for both.

Why Web3 is Only Getting Bigger

In the same way that crypto traders should understand the world of macro, NFT traders need to know where the broader Web3 world is headed.

In this episode of The Journey Man from August 2023, Raoul Pal sits down with Tareq Nazlawy, president of the Web3 agency Science Magic Studios, to discuss the many key learnings from his month of hosting a series of Web3 interviews on Real Vision.

In particular, Tareq and Raoul examine the trends that are bubbling on the industry's horizon and what is required to create a more seamless, accessible Web3 onboarding experience for the masses. They dig into why big brands are embracing NFTs as a way to build brand loyalty and community engagement, Web3's role in the future of capitalism moving forward, how that will drive NFT demand, and more.

A Life in Charts — Peter Brandt

An interview with a TradFi technical chartist may not seem like the most natural fit for a watchlist based on NFT trading, but Peter Brandt is hardly your average chartist.

A 50-year veteran of financial markets, Brandt has traded through — and largely thrived in — every bull and bear market since the early 1970s. In this exclusive sit-down with Raoul, Peter explains his technical analysis, risk management, and portfolio construction strategies, and shares insights into the unique psyche that has helped him become one of the most legendary commodities traders of all time.

No matter your preferred market or trading instrument, Peter's lessons on capturing consistent profits, minimizing emotional trading, "aggressive risk management," and how to cure the common ailment known as overtrading will make anyone a better trader.
